Mr. O. P. Scaife Takes Issue With F. M. Magee on Street Railways.

EXPLAINING A DOUBLE DANGER.

The Parallel Clause Would Porbid a Viaduct and Allegheny Lines,

PREVENTING NEW TRANS-RIVER ROADS

The Lafferty street railway bill has excited more comment than any bill yet presented to the Legislature. THE DISPATCH yesterday contained an interview with F. M. Magee, Esq., who, it seems, wrote the bill, in which he stated that the clause pro- name. Possibly he was afraid of his social hibiting paralleling did not affect this city.

Mr. O. P. Scaife, President of the Observ
I am a friend of the distillers. I sell one of atory Hill Passenger Railway, (the Allegheny electric line), was subsequently seen, and he takes a quite different view of it. To a DISPATCH reporter he said: I am glad to notice the position taken editorially by THE DISPATCH on the proposed bill. In my opinion no more outrageous act was ever introduced into a Legislature. Any one acquainted with the topography of the two cities of Pittsburg and Allegheny, can easily see how it will prevent accommodation to vast numbers of our citizens in the rapidly growing outlying districts. Particularly would this be the case with the city of Allegbeny, which is not as well supplied with passenger railway facilities as Pittsburg. One of the objective points of all ones in Allegheny is Pittsburg, and to get

river. In fact these bridges become THE HUB OR CENTER

there, a new line must necessarily reach one of the numerous bridges crossing the Allegheny of the various systems. Those now existing are the Pittsburg, Allegheny and Manchester, crossing the Sixth street bridge, and by a special act of the Legislature it has an entire nanoly of this bridge, which cannot be disturbed. This road has branches, or radial lines, one extending to the West End, via Lacock and Rebecca streets, and another to the East End vis Ohio street the main line extending west on Ohio. The Pleasant Valley represents another radial line, crossing the Northside bridge via Sandusky and Federal streets to the northwest, and owning the People's Park Railnorthwest, and owning the People's Park Railway via the Hand street bridge and Anderson street, diverging on Federal street to the northeast. The Union Line, crossing the Union bridge, running west, is owned by the Pittsburg, Allegheny and Manchester Company. Now, there is a large area of territory lying between these various lines which is still unaccommodated with street railway convéyance, except the people walk a long distance, and even then cannot find accommodation, as the business is too great for existing lines to handle properly.

PARALLELS ESSENTIAL.

It would be impossible, however, to construct a new line into these sections, so badly needed, without paralleling for a considerable distance nearer than 1,000 feet the other lines, as the center of the systems, viz: the bridges, is approached, so that the paralleling clause of the proposed bill would effectually cut off all fu-ture accommodation to this vast and growing proposed bill would effectually cut off all future accommodation to this vast and growing portion of Allegheny.

The Observatory Hill Passenger Rallway—an electric line recently constructed—was chartered under the act of 1872, the termini being Wood street and Sixth avenue, Pittsburg, and the city line on the Perrysville plank road, Allegheny, to the junction of the Perrysville and Butcher's Run roads, about three and a half miles, was first constructed at an enormous expense and under great engineering difficulties, opening the entire northern portion of the city, conceded by all to be the most beautiful suburban country of the two cities, but which, for want of facilities, had been lying in an entirely undeveloped state, and necessarily so because neither cable nor animal power could be used, owing to the grades and curves. It remained for electricity to solve the problem. The Observatory Hill line having proved a success, the franchise was obtained from the Allegheny Councils, on the petition of almost all property owners, to complete the line along Federal street to Lacock, and thence by Lacock to Sandusky and the Northside bridge.

WHAT HINDERED THEM.

An ordinance was introduced in the Pittsburg Councils for the Pittsburg end, but, beyond reference to a committee, has never been acted upon. The company, however, had prepared to enter on the construction of the extension to the Northside bridge when the decision of the Supreme Court was announced, declaring the act of 1879 unconstitutional under which the act of 1859 unconstitutional, under which the road was chartered. The company was then compelled to await remedial legislation from the present Legislature, and an ordinance is pending in the Allegheny Councils extending the time for the completion of the proposed extension to the Northside bridge, and also providing for the construction of a branch line into part of the territory, because of the territory between ant of the territory heretofore mentioned thich is without street railway accommodation. It will be thus seen that should any bill cover It will be thus seen that should any bill covering the rechartering of street railways at present, without charters under the Supreme Court decision, contain a clause problibting the paralleling of lines nearer than 1,000 feet, or the placing of additional tracks upon any street for more than 500 feet, without the consent of existing lines, no extension to Pittsburg of the Observatory Hill line could be made, or branch constructed, as proposed.

Observatory Hill line could be made, or branch constructed, as proposed.

When Mr. Fred Magee states that the proposed bill does not affect the city he is laboring under a very grave mistake, to say the least. If specially written to cripple the growth of Allegheny City, it could not have been better framed. It is well known that the lines now crossing the bridges are totally unable to accommodate the travel, and there is an urgent demand for new lines with increased facilities.

WHAT DEPENDS ON IT. The growth of Allegheny is dependent in large part on its citizens having facilities to reach the business centers. To close the avenues of entrance to her outlying districts nues of entrance to her outlying districts would be to endanger her prosperity for many years. Instead of legislation prohibiting the paralleling of lines, so far as Allegheny is concerned, there is need of legislation permitting the use by new lines of the tracks of existing lines for a like distance where they lead to bridges, so that additional lines, when needed, may be constructed to the business centers. Such legislation will be very strongly urged by the citizens of Allegheny.

To all appearances this Lafferty bill seems to have been specially designed to injure the Observatory Hill Railway and to place it in the hands of a monopoly now existing and seeking to obtain entire control of the streets of Allegheny and Pittsburg, through the Legislature, which it could not obtain through the Councils. It is not proposed to allow the electric line to carry its passengers to Pittsburg, but they must change cars and pay two fares, as at present.

A SAMPLE STRANGULATION.

To show how far reaching the effect of the proposed bill would be, it is well known a char-ter for a bridge of magnificent proportions has been issued to cross the Allegheny river from Arch street to Fifth street, Pittsburg, over which no street railway could cross because being nearer than 1,000 feet to existing lines.

It is claimed by Mr. Magee that the paralleling clause is inserted for the benefit of Philadelphians. How this can be so I am at a loss to ing clause is inserted for the benefit of Philadelphians. How this can be so I am at a loss to understand, as everyone visiting that city knows almost every street running north and south and east and west has its parallel lines in but few instances over 600 feet apart, and carrying vast numbers of passengers. What is true of Philadelphia now will be true of the rapidly growing city of Allegheny in the near future, if allowed to grow without legislative restriction or monopolistic creations.

A bill is needed, and must be passed, to allow all companies chartered under the act of 1879 to have their existing charters made valid.
Nothing more is needed than to have the old act apply to the entire State instead of to cities of the second and third class, and thus removing the objections of the Supreme Court.

No effort will be spared to acquaint the Legislature with all the facts, and to secure not only the elimination of the objectionable features of the proposed bill, but also the insertion of a clause allowing the use of tracks of other street railways leading to bridges, as I have indicated. That would be honest legislation for the people, and not in the interests of proposed monopolier

PROHIBITION.

Continued from First Page. Once officials were elected by Republicans by one and three majority. Now it is so large as to be out of all danger.

No, I do not think the influx of oil producers and their employes to the county since the local option vote will have any effect. Some of them are drinking men, but many of them will vote for the amendment. They have got used to for the amendment. They have got used to doing without their beer and whisky since lo-cating among us. The distilling contingent from along the river exert no influence what-ever in politics of the county, nor did they ten years ago. One of their number was defeated in his candidacy for Prothonotary one year.

A Friend to Distillers. An hour after this interview I happened to meet a farmer at the Court House. He belongs to the eastern part of the county, and gave me a very breezy little talk with the conditions that I would not use his them considerable rye with which to make whisky, but that is not why I am opposed to constitutional amendment. I shall vote against it because I believe such amendments are aimed at personal liberty and unjust to the interests legislated against. Now, a few years ago when the Legislature in this State was about passing the law prohibiting the sale and ago when the Legislature in this state was about passing the law prohibiting the sale and manufacture of oleomargarine. I wrote to our Representative at Harrisburg giving notice of my protest at least. That may seem odd to you, when you remember that about all the farmers, and especially those of this county, were crazy for such an enactment. That law was framed with a selfish motive, and, although I had the sale of as much butter stopped by the popularity of oleomargarine as any of the farmers, I interposed my voice against my own interests because it was wrong to abolish any honest industry and not compensate the loser. Now, I look at this liquor question in the same way. I am a strictly temperance man, but disapprove of the principle of this movement.

Republicaus and Democrats Both. L. McCarroll, Esq., Chairman of the County Democratic Committee, when interviewed said: I should think the constitutional amendment proposition will be adopted in this county, by what majority though I cannot predict. I expect the whole vote polled in June will be light. It would be heavier if the decision of the matter had been left off until the November elections, but I suppose the leaders feared its mixture with politics at that time, and I guess it would have become a party measure if put before the people at a general election. It will not be a partisan question in Washington county under any circumstances. I have knowledge of many Democrats who will vote for the amendment. Our long abstinence from licenses here has been the means of educating the people to prohibition. Nobody here thinks of wanting liquor sold.

Not a Political Question.

W. S. Parker, Esq., the present Chair-man of the Republican County Committee, said: I see no reason why the amendment should not be adopted in this county. As it is not a political question I cannot venture an opinion as to the majority. It will not shape itself to party lines, but will be contended for on its individual merits.

"Has there been any contest in politics here lately that brought in the liquor question as an issue?"

"Yes, to a certain extent. When the present Judge McIlvain was elected a fight was made upon him under the belief that he would continue the policy of the judges to refuse licenses. There were other issues, too. McIlvaine's majority was 500, while the balance of the ticket had from 700 to 800 majority. The Republican majority in last fall's election was, I think, 1,954." The Prohibition vote in Washington county for St. John in 1884 was 383. In 1888 this had increased to 420 for Fiske. For to-morrow's issue I will send you the sentiments from another county. L. E. STOFIEL.

A TEXAS CUSTOM.

A Mob Attempts to Lynch Crimicals, and Several Persons Are Killed.

St. Louis, January 20 .- A dispatch from Fort Worth, Tex., received here very late last night, says Sheriff Richardson, of this county, received a telephone message about midnight from Graham, in Young county, to the effect that while a Deputy United States Marshal, with a posse of Graham citizens, was escorting the four Mar-low brothers, Buck Hart and another man named Pierce to the Parker county jail at Weatherford, the prisoners being indicted for four murders and eight cases of borse theft, a mob of 30 citizens attempted to lynch them. The Marshal and posse defended the prisoners, when a terrible fight took place, two of the Marlow boys and four of the posse were killed at the first fire. The fight continued, and another one of the Marlows and Pierce were wounded, and another one of the citizens were wounded, and another one of the Chizens mortally hurt. The prisoners, Pierce Mar-low and Buck Hart, escaped, but all are said to be wounded. The fight took place 2½ miles from town. It is not known how many of the mob were hurt.

A large posse has been made up in Graham and are in pursuit of the fugitives and the members of the mob. Sheriff Richardson has wired the Sheriffs at Henrietta, Vernon, Wichita, Cisco, Abilene and Colo-

STREET ACT CHANGES.

Further Amendments of a Bill in Which Pittsburg is Interested in Several Ways -Making It Consistent.

Speaking of Lafferty's street act amendment bill for Pittsburg, Controller Morrow, in conversation with a reporter, pointed out a few of the latest changes in the draft of the bill as amended. Among them was the incorporation of this provision in section 8: The costs and expenses of grading, paving or macadamizing streets or alleys shall be levied upon the properties benefited thereby by the Board of Viewers after the Department of Public Works shall have furnished them a certificate of the cost of such improvement. Damages by reason of grading or change of grades shall be levied and assessed by the board upon properties benefited by such improvements. Then, to obviate all further possibility of suits for consequential damages in cases where appeals from improvement assessments may result in quashing the proceedings, the following proviso is inserted in

Provided, That in no event snail the city be liable upon its contracts for such improvements, beyond the amount agreed upon in the contract to be paid by the city from its general fund, should such proceedings be quashed or set aside by the Court for informality or any

are not wholly successful:

In case the appellant shall not recover an amount greater than that allowed or awarded by the Board of Viewers, he shall pay all the cost of such appeal, and in case the amount allowed by the jury shall be greater than that so allowed and awarded by the Board of Viewers of street improvements, the Court shall order the record of the cause or causes to be returned to the Board of Viewers of street improvements with directions to assess the difference upon such properties as the Board may find benefited by such improvement.
